

Ae Young Lee

Department of Neurology, Chungnam National University College of Medicine, Korea

She is currently a head of the department of Neurology at Chungnam National University and a director of the Daejeon Metropolitan Dementia Center. She received her Ph.D. in the field of Neurology from Chungnam National University. She is a current member of the Korean Dementia Association and serves on the Editorial director in Korean Neurological Association. Her research interests have focused on studies of dementia and cognitive neuroscience. More recently, she concentrated on the precision medicine in Alzheimer's disease.