

Alicia Algeciras-Schimmich

Mayo Clinic, USA

Alicia Algeciras-Schimmich, Ph.D. is an associate professor of Laboratory Medicine and Pathology. She is the director of the Clinical Immunoassay Laboratory and chair of the Clinical Biochemistry and Immunology Division in the Department of Laboratory Medicine and Pathology at Mayo Clinic, Rochester, MN.

Dr. Algeciras-Schimmich received her Bachelor of Science degree in microbiology from the University of Puerto Rico and earned her Ph.D. in immunology from Mayo Graduate School. She completed two postdoctoral fellowships, one at Mayo Graduate School and another at the Ben May Institute for Cancer Research at the University of Chicago. Dr. Algeciras-Schimmich also completed a fellowship in clinical chemistry at Mayo Graduate School. She has published more than 90 peer-reviewed articles, abstracts, and book chapters. Among her many awards, she received the Outstanding Research Award from the Molecular Pathology Division at the 2008 Annual Meeting of the American Association for Clinical Chemistry.