

Eun Kyoung Kim

Korea Centers for Disease Control and Prevention, Korea

Eun Kyoung Kim is currently an epidemic intelligence service officer working on Korea centers for disease control and prevention. She received her MPH in nursing science education from Yonsei University in Republic of Korea and graduated Korea Field Epidemic Training Program.

Her research interests have focused on studies of MERS (Middle East Respiratory Syndrome). More recently she concentrated on the unexplained etiology infectious disease outbreak, Bioterrorism and Mass gathering events.