

Jaehyeon Lee

Chonbuk National University Medical School, Korea

Jaehyeon Lee is currently an assistant professor of the laboratory department at the Chonbuk National University Medical School and Hospital in Jeonju, Republic of Korea. He finished residency training of laboratory medicine in Chonbuk National University Hospital and he received Ph.D. in the laboratory medicine from the Chonbuk National University. His main business and research field is clinical microbiology and diagnostic immunology.