

Young Ae Lim

Ajou University School of Medicine, Korea

She is currently a Professor of the Department of Laboratory Medicine at the Ajou University School of Medicine in the Gyeonggi-do, South Korea. She received her Ph.D. in the Transfusion Medicine of Clinical Pathologist from the Chung-Ang Univ. Medical College in South Korea.

She was awarded a number of honors and scientific PRIZES; Award from Minister of Health and Welfare in 2007, Award from President of Korean Red Cross in 2013, and Academic Award from Korean Federation of Science and Technology Societies (KOFST) in 2015. SHE served on the Director of Transfusion Medicine External Quality Assessment Scheme in Korea Association of Quality Assurance for Clinical Laboratory (Jan. 2010 ~ Dec. 2018) and current President in Korean Society of Blood Transfusion since 2018 and Chairperson of Transfusion Medicine Subcommittee in Korean Society for Laboratory Medicine since 2014. Her research interests have focused on studies of the Quality Control of Immunohematology and the Function of Platelets.